OPLEV VINTER- KÆRLIGHED I ØSTRIG

Forestil dig, at du står på en snedækket bjergtop tidligt om morgenen. Forestil dig, at du kører ned ad de nypræparerede pister før alle andre, og at du holder dagens første pause i en hyggelig hytte. Forestil dig, at du nyder duften af Glühwein og lyden af knitrende ild efter en aktiv dag.

Østrig er en meget populær skidestination. Og det er let at se hvorfor: Et skiophold i Østrig er autentisk, skiinfrastrukturen er veludbygget, og mange skiområder har snesikre pister langt ind i foråret. De traditionelle alpehytter, det regionale køkken med retter som den klassiske Kaiserschmarren og den østrigske „Gemütlichkeit“ gør en vinterferie i Østrig unik.

I år inviterer vi dig - og dine læsere/følgere - til at opleve vinteren i Østrig i virkeligheden. Vi vil ikke bare fortælle dig om Østrigs magiske vinterlandskab, det fantastiske skiløb eller alle de aktiviteter uden for pisterne som f.eks. sneskovandring, hundslædekørsel eller et besøg i et spabad. Kom og mød de lokale, og få endnu flere tips fra østrigerne selv.

Har du brug for flere oplysninger om Østrig? Vi hjælper dig gerne! Tag et kig på vores hjemmeside austria.info og kontakt os gerne.

Wörthersee-Freeride-Jet

The new, 450 m long Wörthersee-Freeride-Jet will go into operation on the southeast side of the Gerlitzen Alpe in December 2022. The 4-seater chairlift is replacing a button lift, making it easier for ski and snowboard beginners to get to this side of the mountain. The new lift is also ideal for freeriders. It leads directly to the starting point of natural snow descents such as the Finsterbach freeride slopes.

Combination lift and high-altitude trail on the Rittisberg

A new combined lift will open on the Rittisberg near Ramsau in the Schladming-Dachstein region at the beginning of winter, replacing the 4-seater chairlift. The new lift is equipped with gondolas and 6-seater chairs. With the new lift, the Rittisbergbahn operators are expanding their offer for non-skiers. From this winter, a 5.5 km long high-altitude trail will be accessible. A path for winter hikers and snowshoe hikers runs parallel to the trail, unveiling breathtaking views of the Dachstein and the Ennstal time and again along the way.

It is not a road in the traditional sense, but rather an association of experts from different disciplines. The approximately 180 members include alpine dairies, inns, farms, and rural cheesemakers who share the secrets of cheese production. Many also offer tastings. Together, the members organise events such as the Herbst.Genuss.Zeit in autumn.

VIENNA

150 years of the Vienna World's Fair

2023 marks the 150th anniversary of the Vienna World's Fair, which will be all about the special spirit in Vienna around 1873. No other major event has had a greater impact on the city's transformation into a world metropolis. Today Vienna is in a comparable situation. Since the 2000s, the city has changed at the same speed as it did back then. Therefore, Vienna will be celebrating its past, present, and future with great urban visions and the courage to reinvent the future.

300 years of the Belvedere

In 2023, the Belvedere celebrates its 300th birthday: The Upper Palace was completed in 1723 after ten years of construction. To mark the anniversary, the Belvedere dedicates a comprehensive special exhibition to its own history from 2nd December 2022 to 7th January 2024. An architectural gem as well as a museum, the Belvedere has stood for power and representation throughout the ages: as a location of courtly festivals, at times as a royal residence, but also as the place where the Austrian State Treaty was signed in 1955. The new exhibition will display all the different ways the palace was used for.

"Rauhnächte" at Lake Wolfgang

The "Rauhnächte" between Christmas and 6th January are closely linked to customs and superstitions. According to popular belief, unusual things happen during these twelve nights as the connection between this world and the world beyond is said to be stronger than usual. From 24th December 2022 to 6th January 2023, the region around Lake Wolfgangsee will be celebrating the theme of the "Rauhnächte" for the first time with church concerts, incense and herbal workshops, storytelling evenings and torchlight hikes.

Vienna Boys' Choir in Oberndorf

The Silent Night town of Oberndorf near Salzburg is looking forward to a special premiere: The Vienna Boys' Choir will be giving two concerts in the village where the Christmas carol "Silent Night" was first performed in 1818. The world-famous boys' choir can be heard on 23rd and 24th November 2022. The Christmas concerts will take place in the town hall in Oberndorf.

Ice4Life in Gastein

For the seventh time – and for the first time in the Gastein Valley – the Ice4Life event will be picking up on the trend of training in the cold and the associated breathing technique. From 26th to 29th January 2023, the competitions will combine one hour each of running and cross-country skiing with scanty clothing. Participants then spend around 10 minutes in ice-cold water. What might sound crazy at first glance actually has positive effects on the immune system and boosts energy.

Winemaker couple of the year 2022: Marion and Manfred Ebner-Ebenauer

Marion and Manfred Ebner-Ebenauer of the same-named wine estate in Poysdorf in the Weinviertel are celebrating a great award: Gourmet magazine Falstaff named them Austrian "Winemakers of the Year 2022". According to the judges, Marion and Manfred Ebner-Ebenauer set new standards. With their unconventional style and feel for nature, they produce particularly refreshing and delicate world-class wines that remain true to the region. The couple has been running the winery in line with organic principles since 2016. They produce their own humus, promote biodiversity, and keep beehives in their vineyards. The vines are their greatest treasure, some of which are 30 to 70 years old and all of which tell their own story. The couple produces excellent Grüner Veltliner, Chardonnay, Riesling, Pinot Blanc, and various red wine varieties from the hand-harvested grapes.

Experimental chef Kevin Manzenreiter

"Alte Geschichte – neue Gerichte" (ancient history – new dishes) is one of Kevin Manzenreiter's cooking mottos. He grew up at his parents' inn in Waldburg near Freistadt. After training as a chef, he worked in New Zealand, Canada, and Switzerland. In recent years he has always been drawn home in the summer. He opened a pop-up restaurant named "ma.ke" and surprised his guests not only with fresh food creations, but also with the concept: eating like at your grandma's house. The dishes were served together for the entire table, meaning everyone could try a bit of everything. Kevin Manzenreiter has been living in Waldburg permanently again since September 2022 and runs the kitchen at Gasthaus Manzenreither. In addition to classic tavern dishes he also offers surprise menus that invite you to taste and enjoy together.

Sports manager Karl Posch

"Moving and amazing people has always been my greatest motivation", says Karl Posch. The trained technician and quality assurance officer organised his first sports event in 1994: the "Dachstein Gletscherlauf", a high alpine ski touring race on the Dachstein glacier in his hometown of Gosau in the Salzkammergut. In the years that followed, the enthusiastic ski mountaineer made a significant contribution towards the professionalisation of the sport. As an independent consultant, he also works for tourist regions that want to optimise their gentle winter offerings.

Organic vegetable grower Josef Steiner

Josef Steiner, who grew up on a vegetable farm in the Innviertel region, has been interested in vegetables since he was a child. He is fascinated by watching them grow, seeing them ripen and finally harvest them. Travelling the world, he got to know and appreciate cultivation in greenhouses. He decided he'd want something similar but with a sustainable and eco-certified focus. His dream came true when he opened the Biohof Geinberg in May 2022. The glass house, eleven hectares in size, is heated by geothermal and photovoltaic. Josef Steiner mainly uses rain-water falling from the roof surfaces into a large basin. Compost serves as fertilizer; bumblebees take on the job of pollination. The farm shop is open all year round.

Eco fashion designer Sabine Wagenhofer

A few years ago Sabine Wagenhofer had a burnout. It was around this time that she rediscovered spinning, which she had learned from her grandmother as a child. She was soon knitting her first jumpers and decided to devote herself entirely to wool and the craft. Many of the clothes we wear have become disposable models and Sabine Wagenhofer wants to counteract this with suitably durable clothing. In Nußdorf am Haunsberg she produces jumpers and sweater vests for children and adults from hand-spun wool dyed with natural colours. The materials she uses all come from the local area, from the sheep's wool to the alpaca wool.

Mountain butcher Johannes Gassner

Even as a child, Johannes Gassner knew that he wanted to be a butcher. After training to become a master butcher and several years of professional experience, he took the plunge into self-employment in 2021. He set up a slaughter and butchering room next to his childhood home in Raggal in the UNESCO Biosphere Reserve Großes Walsertal where he fulfils his dream of producing sustainable food. His range currently includes various types of sausages such as salami, Landjäger, Kaminwurzeln, veal and barbecue sausages.

Chef Julian Stieger

From October 2022, 28-year-old Julian Stieger will be cooking at the Rote Wand Chef's Table in Zug near Lech am Arlberg. The gourmet hotspot has earned four Gault Millau toques, making it one of Austria's best restaurants. And Julian Stieger is one of the country's best chefs. He learned and mastered his trade in well-known restaurants such as the Steirereck in Vienna, the Landhaus Bacher in Lower Austria and most recently in the Geranium in Copenhagen. The latter tops the list of the 50 best restaurants in the world.
