

SUMMER NEWS 2021

Dear reader,

It is with great determination and full of hope that we are gearing up for the coming summer season, and the same can be said for our partners in Austria. Never before have we had so much news to tell you about, which not only delights us, but also makes us want to go on holiday in Austria.

Numerous new hotels, chalets and apartments have been built across the country. Guests can sleep under the stars of the Biosphere Reserve Großes Walsertal in the mobile Dream.Alive-Lodge, a glass-enclosed hotel room. Existing establishments are investing in conversions and extensions with great attention to detail, such as Hotel Salzburger Hof in Leogang. The building has been extended and now includes a 1,200 m<sup>2</sup> panoramic wellness area with a 20.5 m long outdoor infinity pool.

The new (long-distance) hiking trails are sure to be popular amongst those who can't wait to get active outdoors this summer. Ambitious hikers can opt for the Hohe Tauern Panorama Trail, for example, which will be offering stunning views of Austria's highest mountains from mid-May. Quite fittingly, Hohe Tauern National Park is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. And there are new options for cyclists too. Some of the SalzburgerLand regions have picked up on the gravel biking trend and are offering tours. In the Kitzbüheler Alpen, the KAT Bike trail is being updated.

There are also nature and animal experiences to look forward to. Weissensee Nature Park will be introducing "Batnight" as part of its ranger programme this summer, an opportunity to explore the fascinating world of bats.

New excursion destinations are emerging as well, such as the Familien-Erlebnisswelt Podersdorf at Lake Neusiedl, which will open with water features, an enormous sand playground and a 57 m long motor skills climbing route in mid-May. And there's culinary news too: there will be a Heuriger (wine tavern) at Schönbrunn Palace from autumn, located between the orangery and the main entrance.

One of many anniversaries in 2021 is the 95th anniversary of the Raxseilbahn in Lower Austria, which was Austria's first cable car when it opened in 1926.

You will find all of this and more in our Summer News 2021. Let us inspire you today and we will be delighted to help you turn your plans into reality as soon as it is possible to travel again.

Have fun browsing and stay well!

THINGS TO DO

HIKING

CARINTHIA

The Carnic Milky Way

The Carnic Milky Way is a cross-border project. The long-distance hiking trail, which is currently being expanded, connects Austrian and Italian (cheese) pastures, which are scattered in the landscape like stars. You have been able to explore the first constellation since summer 2020. The “Lips of Europe” run from Hermagor to Tarvisio in Italy and, from a bird’s eye view, the landscape forms “lips” there. At the beginning of the hiking season 2021, two more constellations will be added: the “Lighthouse” in the Nassfeld region and the “Red Planet”, which extends into the upper Gail Valley. You should be able to walk along all seven constellations of the Carnic Milky Way by 2022.

Barrier-free nature experiences at Lake Weissensee

Barrier-free hiking trails are being created on the Egger Alm and Dellacher Alm and on the western shore of Lake Weissensee. They should be accessible from June 2021. This development has been made possible thanks to funding from a leader project and the State of Carinthia. You will find further information on barrier-free travel in Carinthia – from guided nature experiences to bathing opportunities and accommodation – on the Carinthian Tourist Office website.

WEB

New Slow Trails

Leisurely hiking on easy paths, relaxing and slowing down: this is possible on Slow Trails across Carinthia. They are a maximum of ten kilometres long, mostly flat and equipped with benches. Three new Slow Trails will be added to the existing nine in summer 2021 in the Villach – Faaker See – Ossiacher See region. The 4.6 km long Slow Trail Afritzer See leads through a conservation area. Hikers can explore an ornithologically interesting area on 2.6 km long Slow Trail Wernberg Drauschleife. And the 2.7 km long Slow Trail Faaker See is located on the edge of the Drobollacher Moor. A further new addition is the Slow Trail Turnersee in the Klopeiner See region.

www.visitcarinthia.at/hiking/slow-trails/

Via Paradiso at Lake Millstatt

The new approximately 50 km long Via Paradiso hiking trail invites you to feel the magic of nature at Lake Millstatt. The trail leads around Lake Millstatt in four comfortable stages. Walking times of around three to just under five hours leave enough time to take breaks, enjoy nature, stop at a lakeside terrace or take a refreshing dip.

WEB

www.millstaettersee.com/en/

Trail der Horizonte

The new Trail der Horizonte invites you to “consciously wander”. The 82 km long-distance hiking trail leads through Carinthia’s undiscovered heart. Six daily stages lead from Turracher Höhe in the Nockberge Biosphere Reserve to Malschacher See. The trail leads up and down through larch and pine forests, quiet villages, to springs and along rivers. There are between 600 and 1,500 m of altitude to overcome per day. Those who wish to travel lightly can book a package with luggage transfer.

Even longer: the Nockberge-Trail

The Nockberge-Trail, which begins on the Katschberg and ended in Bad Kleinkirchheim up until now, is being extended by three stages this year, leading hikers from Bad Kleinkirchheim to Lake Millstatt. The Nockberge-Trail now has a total of eight stages. The daily walking times in consistently mountainous terrain are between three and seven hours. It's a good idea to book a package with accommodation and luggage transfer.

Experience "Magic Moments"

"Magic Moments" provide special nature experiences across Carinthia from May to October. There are two new additions to the programme this summer. An around one and a half hour hike leads from the Urbansee to cheese dairy Höfer in St. Urban. There, owner Christoph Höfer provides an insight into milk processing and serves up delights with names such as "Bunter Hund im Morgenland" (colourful dog in the Orient) and "best friend filled with happiness" to taste. For the second new experience, Nature Active Guides lead participants on an approximately three-hour hike through the Drau Valley in search of fossils, i.e. imprints of fossilized sea creatures and plants. The tour ends with delicious tastings in Slow Food Village Berg.

Hohe Tauern Panorama Trail

The new Hohe Tauern Panorama Trail will offer ambitious hikers a new challenge and sensational views of Austria's highest mountains from mid-May. It comprises ten daily stages, is 150 km long and overcomes 7,000 m in altitude. Hikers begin their tour at the foot of the Krimml Waterfalls and their goal is the Schmittenhöhe high above Zell am See. The walking times are between four and seven hours per day. Depending on where the day's stage ends, the long-distance hikers spend the night in a hut on the mountain or in accommodation of their choice in the valley. Mountain lifts, shuttle services at the end of each stage and a bookable luggage transfer offer maximum comfort. Hohe Tauern National Park is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

On the way, children can visit a petting zoo, climb, swim in the mountain lake and enjoy various other fun stations. ### The Path of Songs in Wildschönau “Singa is insa Freid” (singing is our joy) the Wildschönau locals in the Kitzbühel Alps know. People have always sung, played and danced in their homes and on the pasture, at work and on every occasion here. Hikers can find out what that sounds like on the new “Path of Songs” in Oberau. From this summer there will be twelve stations along the village hiking trail. With a smartphone and QR code, you can listen to a song and watch a video on it at each board, featuring local music groups and choirs.

Through two provinces: Arlberg Trail

The new long-distance Arlberg Trail leads once around the Arlberg Pass, which connects Tirol and Vorarlberg. It is 40 km long and a real alpine challenge, as hikers are on the road for a total of 15 hours. From St. Anton the trail leads to Zürs via Stuben, over the Seekopf to Lech and then back to St. Anton. Hiking from castle to castle; the new 50 km Tirolean Castle Trail makes it possible. It leads to Landeck Castle, Biedeneegg Castle, Wiesberg Castle, Schrofenstein Castle and the Kronburg. Hikers can find out interesting facts about the castles, other sights and the natural and cultural landscape via an app. To avoid an overload of signposts, the trail is purely digital.

Oswald Kollreider themed path in East Tirol

In Kartitsch in East Tirol, the new artist path reminds of the painter Oswald Kollreider (1922–2017). Kollreider grew up in Kartitsch, had an international presence and maintained a strong connection to his hometown. He is best known for his sacred works. There are seven boards with paintings by the artist along the almost four kilometre long path, which leads leisurely through meadows. Seven authors took a closer look at an Oswald Kollreider painting and captured their thoughts in short texts or poems. They are not art historical analyses, but far more literary reflections.

95 years of Austria's first cable car

When it opened in 1926, the Raxseilbahn was Austria's first cable car. Thanks to its proximity to Vienna, it was well used from the start. In the meantime, the cable car has been modernised several times. It takes hikers from the valley station to the high plateau of the Rax at 1,546 m in just a few minutes all year round. The Rax has also made a name for itself as a climbing area. Viktor Frankl, the founder of logotherapy, often climbed the rock faces of the Rax and saw the mountain as a mentor of life. Sigmund Freud, who spent several summers in Reichenau, discovered his "Katharina case" in the Ottohaus on the Rax, which he described in one of his first books on psychoanalysis.

When in Salzburg, a trip to the Augustiner Bräu is a must. The huge beer garden alone is worth seeing. The Augustiner Bräu was founded by Augustinian canons in 1621. It is located in Salzburg's Mülln neighbourhood at the foot of the Mönchsberg. Today, the Bräustübl is Austria's biggest beer tavern. Inside the building, it extends across several halls covering around 5,000 m<sup>2</sup> in total. There is space for up to 1,400 guests under the chestnut trees in the garden. The beer still comes in traditional wooden barrels and is served in stone pitchers. Accompanying dishes can be purchased at the stalls in the "Schmankerlgang".

50 years of Hohe Tauern National Park

In 1971, the governors of Salzburg, Carinthia and Tirol signed an agreement: they wanted to establish a joint national park in the Hohe Tauern. It took a number of years before the project could be realised. In the meantime, the Hohe Tauern National Park has become a household name and a natural space that has many distinctive features. Austria's highest mountain, the 3,798 m Großglockner, towers in the national park. There are also more than 300 peaks that are over 3,000 m high. The national park protects 342 glaciers and 279 streams flow through it, of which 57 are glacial streams. 26 waterfalls plunge into the depths, including the famous Krimml Waterfalls. There are 551 lakes to walk around and the Hohe Tauern National Park is also home to about 20,000 animal species, 3,500 plant species and 4,000 types of mushroom. The new Hohe Tauern Panorama Trail will be presenting ambitious hikers with a fresh challenge from mid-May and breathtaking views of Austria's highest mountains.
